

This communication board uses symbols to share wants, needs, and thoughts, assisting individuals with communication challenges.

An example; first, we will go to the toilet, next we will get a drink of water, then we will go to an activity.

Ways to use communication boards:

1. Point to symbols to convey messages.
2. Speak in full sentences pointing to assist board users.
3. Read words aloud while pointing, allowing partners to respond with "yes" or "no."
4. Encourage others to support communication difficulties by using the board.
